INTRODUCTION

Welcome to The Nest Eatery. As a new-hire employee it is important to understand your contribution and role during the training process. Our goal as a team is to provide a high-quality experience with emphasis on superior guest service. By anticipating and satisfying our guest's needs, we will continue to build our brand and create repeat guests.

This manual will provide you with the tools and knowledge to develop the skills needed to succeed at your position, and with our company. You will be responsible for following these guidelines to ensure our standards of service, conduct, and proper financial procedures at all times.

A complete Nest Eatery employee is a well-rounded individual who excels in all aspects of service, sales, and promotions. We aim to build a team proficient in guest service, communications, and guest development, for us as well as Osprey Golf Course.

We believe employees are happier and more valuable if they know what they can expect from our company and what our company expects from them. We expect you to incorporate that information into your day-to-day job performance, striving to meet our company's values in everything you do.

At The Nest Eatery, as in the rest of the world, circumstances are constantly changing. As a result, we may have to revise, rescind, or supplement these policies from time to time. Nothing in this handbook is a contract or a promise. The policies can change at any time, for any reason, without warning. This manual is not an employment contract and is not a guarantee of continued employment at The Nest Eatery.

Consistent with our commitment to maintaining open channels of communication with our employees, the company actively encourages employees who have ideas or suggestions regarding how the company may improve its operations to bring these suggestions to our attention. If you have any ideas that you believe may improve our operations, increase the level of service we provide to our guests or that will in any way add to the quality of life of our employees, we request that you notify your immediate supervisor in writing of your suggestion. Be assured that your idea will be discussed, evaluated, and implemented if we believe the suggestion is practical and should become part of the company's way of doing business.

We urge you to read this manual carefully and keep it as a reference. If there's anything you do not understand, please let us know. We are excited to have you as part of our team and look forward to a mutually beneficial and happy working experience.

Thank you,

The Nest Eatery Management

POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

EMPLOYMENT AT THE NEST EATERY

At Will Employment

Our goal is to provide a supportive work environment and a solid economic foundation upon which you can grow and prosper professionally. We understand, however, that sometimes either you or we might decide to make changes. Although we sincerely hope our relationship with you will be a lasting one, please note That employment with The Nest Eatery is not for any specified time. Your employment will be "at will," which means that it may be terminated either by The Nest Eatery or by you for any reason, at any time, with or without cause and without prior notice. This handbook does not change the "at-will" nature of your employment with The Nest Eatery. Nothing herein is intended to create a contract of employment or any other type of contract or to guarantee employment for any period of time. Statements in this employee manual are not promises of specific treatment, but general statements of The Nest Eatery policy. The Nest Eatery reserves the right to change, interpret, withdraw, or add to the policies, benefits or terms and conditions of employment, at its sole discretion, and without prior notice, without consideration or approval by any employee group.

Introductory Period

Since it's important that all new employees become accustomed to The Nest Eatery and to our systems, all new employees have a 60-day introductory period. This gives both you and us an opportunity to determine if you're suited for the type of work to which you're assigned. During this period, you'll be evaluated in terms of your response to training, performance, job, attitude, aptitude, attendance, and other relevant factors. You can show your interest and initiative by asking questions. In fact, we expect and encourage questions about anything that's unclear. Near the end of this orientation period, we will review and evaluate your performance with you.

Equal Opportunity Employment

The Nest Eatery is committed to providing equal employment opportunity in all of our employment practices, including selection, hiring, promotion, transfer, and compensation, to all qualified applicants and employees without regard to race, religion, color, sex, age, national origin, disability, military service, sexual orientation, citizenship status, marital status or any other protected status in accordance with the requirements of all applicable federal, state, and local laws. Further, we provide equal opportunities in employment, promotions, training, wages, benefits, and all other privileges, terms and conditions of employment. All employee actions, such as recruiting, selection and placement, training, benefits, promotions and upgrading, transfers, layoffs, suspensions, terminations, and social and recreational programs, are applicable to all persons on a non-discriminatory basis. If you're an employee with a disability, we will provide you with reasonable accommodation, except where such accommodation would cause The Nest Eatery undue hardship.

COMPANY PRINCIPALS

Mission Statement

The Nest Eatery is committed to providing a leading quality golf experience to players of all ages and abilities by enhancing their enjoyment of the great game of golf.

We pride ourselves on looking at the big picture of business and not short-term financial success. Proper knowledge and skills enable individuals in all roles to effectively serve the guest in a competent manner. While positive attitudes and habits enhance the guest experience by creating a service orientated culture. To fulfill this mission, we collectively adopt the following goals:

1. Every guest experiencing our facilities will be welcomed with a sincere greeting and treated in this manner while on the property.
2. Every staff member on our team will work in a proactive manner to adapt to all of our guests needs.
3. Every guest will be genuinely thanked for their business upon completion of their visit and encouraged to visit us again.
4. Osprey Golf Course will provide superior playing conditions with the highest environmental respect to the entire property.

Service Standards

Follow all basic service procedures at all times. A service staff's manner, appearance and knowledge of proper service, or lack of it, can literally make or break a guest's experience. Poor service is the reason most cited for disgruntled guests and lost business; not just for The Nest Eatery but for you as well.

Service Values of The Nest Eatery Team

- To treat each and every guest in a friendly, accommodating and respectful manner.
- To create a positive work environment that thrives on teamwork.
- To sustain a consistent and friendly atmosphere to meet the needs of our guests.
- To keep an open mind and be willing to learn and grow.
- To constantly seek opportunities to improve the Osprey experience.
- To take pride in your professional appearance, language and behavior.
- To take on responsibility to provide uncompromising levels of cleanliness to create a superior image and safe workplace.

WORKWEEK

Schedules

The workweek at The Nest Eatery runs from Monday to Sunday. Schedules will be posted in 7Shifts. For any schedule problems, please see your manager. Regardless of schedule requests, the schedule given to you is your responsibility and you will be held accountable for the shifts assigned to you. Shifts may be traded upon approval of a manager but must be done in 7Shifts.

Payday

Our paydays are biweekly. Each employee will have her, or his paycheck direct deposited. We make every effort to ensure our employees are paid correctly; however inadvertent mistakes can occasionally happen. When mistakes do happen and are called to our attention, we will promptly make any necessary corrections. Please review your pay stub when you receive it to make sure it is correct.

ATTENDANCE AND PUNCTUALITY

Punching In/Out

It's your responsibility to be at your workstation on time. Both exempt and non-exempt employees must maintain a record of the total hours they work each day. These hours must be accurately recorded in the pos system. Unless you are authorized by your supervisor, you should not work any hours that are not approved. You may not punch in until your scheduled time and are expected to punch in for yourself.

Sick Time & Emergencies

In the case of an illness or emergency, you must call in at least four (4) hours before your shift and advise the manager. You must make every reasonable attempt to get your shift covered. Speaking to another employee does not constitute notification; therefore, you must speak to a manager. After two (2) consecutive sick days or when warranted, we may require medical documentation including a doctor's note to verify the legitimacy of any absence or lateness. Excessive absence from work may result in appropriate discipline, up to and including termination.

Tardiness

Think of the venue as a machine - if one part is missing, it won't work. At The Nest Eatery, you're one part of our machine. If you're late, you affect how the venue operates. We ask that you make every effort to be on time for work. That means that you are in uniform, ready to work at your scheduled time. Running through the door at your scheduled time will be considered late and could result in discipline, up to and including termination.

We do understand that sometimes emergencies happen (emergency is defined as any unforeseen circumstance) that may cause you to be late for your shift. As soon as you become aware of a problem, please call your manager.

Shift Changes

All changes in schedule must be entered into 7Shifts and approved by a manager. If you need to get a shift covered, you must find an available employee for that position and enter the change into 7Shifts. Approval, however, is at the managers discretion.

Schedules

Schedules are available by checking 7Shifts. It is the responsibility of the employee to read their schedules correctly and to arrive on time and ready to work at the scheduled times. Pay close attention to your schedule as in-times may vary due to events, business levels, holidays, etc.

Leave Of Absence (defined as one or more weeks of time off)

If a situation arises that requires you to take extended time off, you may request a leave of absence without pay. You will need to submit a formal request form in advance for approval. Once your leave is approved, you will be responsible for getting your shifts covered. Each request will be considered on a case-by-case basis. Leave of absence, if approved, is good for one to three weeks no longer, and no job guarantee. Approved per discretion of manager. If you are gone more than 3 weeks, it will be a voluntary resignation and the employee will have to re-apply. All requests will be based on business levels and staffing requirements.

Family And Medical Leave Act

The family and medical leave act of 1993 ("FMLA") provides eligible employees up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave, in a given 12-month period, for specified family and medical reasons.

Employee Eligibility

To be eligible for the 12 workweeks of unpaid leave you must have:

- Been employed by The Nest Eatery for at least 12 months before starting the leave.
- Worked for The Nest Eatery a minimum of 1,250 hours during the 12- month period immediately preceding the start of the leave.
- While the 12 months of employment need not be consecutive, employment periods prior to a break in service of seven years or more need not be counted unless the break is occasioned by the employee's fulfillment of his or her national guard or reserve military obligation (as protected under the uniformed services employment and reemployment rights act – USERRA).

Leave Entitlement

A covered employer must grant an eligible employee up to a total of 12 workweeks of unpaid leave during any 12-month period for one or more of the following reasons:

- For the birth and care of a newborn child of the employee;
- For placement with the employee of a son or daughter for adoption or foster care;
- To care fora spouse, son, daughter, or parent with a serious health condition;
- To take medical leave when the employee is unable to work because of a serious health condition; or
- For qualifying exigencies arising out of the fact that the employee's spouse, son, daughter, or parent is on active-duty status as a member of the national guard or reserves support of a contingency operation. Qualifying exigencies may include attending certain military events, arranging for alternative childcare, addressing certain financial and legal arrangements, attending certain counseling sessions, and attending post-deployment reintegration briefings.

Military Leave

Employees who require time off from work to fulfill military obligations will be treated in accordance with applicable requirements of state and federal laws. You are expected to notify the company of upcoming military duty by providing your manager with a copy of your orders as soon as possible.

Jury Duty

The Nest Eatery grants time off to employees who are called upon to perform jury duty. Employees are reimbursed for the difference between pay received for jury duty and their normal hourly wage (excluding any special forms of compensation such as: gratuities, incentives, commissions, or bonuses). Pay will not be reimbursed for hours served on jury duty in excess of the employee's scheduled shift.

If you are summoned for jury duty you must complete a time off request and notify your manager immediately upon receipt of notice. You will be required to submit a copy of the jury summons and copies of the checks received for jury duty to your manager who will submit for reimbursement. Mileage reimbursement paid by the court will not be deducted from the employee's pay.

Court appearances, whether as plaintiff, defendant or witness that require absences for motor vehicle violations, civic complaints, small claims proceedings and so forth, are not considered jury duty and not covered by this policy.

TIP POLICY

Tipping

A good percentage of your wages will be tips. The IRS requires you to report your total tips to the payroll department, which will then calculate the amount of taxes to be withheld from your base wages. It's important to remember the law about reporting your tips. Tips are considered taxable earnings. Not reporting them can be considered tax fraud and could result in heavy fines. The IRS considers this to be a serious offense. Repeatedly underreporting tips may place you, The Nest Eatery and your coworkers in the unnecessary and unwarranted position of an audit. We will monitor all tip declarations on a weekly basis for accuracy. If we find you are not following procedure, we may take corrective action, up to and including termination.

Declaring Tips

All staff must declare credit card and cash tips at the end of every shift in the POS. These tips will be adjusted on your paycheck. You should keep track of your actual tips in a separate journal. This way your records are clear just in case there are any discrepancies.

Here are the benefits of tip reporting:

- Compliance with the tax law and avoidance of large penalties & interest.
- Increased income may improve your credit rating.
- Increased workers comp benefits if you get hurt.
- Increased social security benefits.

We will monitor all tips on a weekly basis, but it is your responsibility to declare 100% of what you make. This is not a company policy but the law.

NON-OPERATIONAL POLICIES

Open Door Policy

We want to maintain a positive and pleasant environment for all our employees. To help meet this goal, The Nest Eatery has an open-door policy, by which employees are encouraged to report work related concerns.

If something about your job is disturbing you, or if you have a question, concern, idea, or problem related to your work, please discuss it with your immediate supervisor as soon as possible. If for any reason you don't feel comfortable bringing the matter to your supervisor, feel free to raise the issue with any member of management or Human Resources.

We encourage you to come forward and make your concerns known to the company. We encourage you to pursue discussion of the work-related matters until they have been fully resolved. No employee will be counseled or otherwise penalized for raising a good-faith concern. To the fullest extent possible, the company will keep all matters confidential, the investigation and the terms of resolutions. We can't solve the problem if we don't know about it.

Employee Parking

All employee parking is to not be closest to the building. We must ensure our golfers have plenty of parking and with taking bags and clubs to and from their vehicles, they need to be closer to the front.

Confidentiality

Employees are expected to ensure that the operations, activities, and business affairs of the company remain confidential to the greatest possible extent. All records and files of the company are property of the company and considered confidential. Employees are therefore prohibited from copying or disclosing any company files, records, or other confidential information. Confidential information includes but is not limited to, information concerning transactions with clients, suppliers or vendors, client lists, payroll or employee records of past or present employees, financial records of the company, all records pertaining to purchases from vendors or suppliers, correspondences and agreements with distributors, and documents concerning operating procedures of the company. Any requests for information regarding current or former employees should be immediately directed to management. Employees found to be violating any aspect of this policy are subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

Workers' Compensation

All employees are covered by workers' compensation insurance, which compensates an employee for lost time, medical expenses, and loss of life or dismemberment from an injury arising out of or in the course and scope of work. Employees are required to immediately report any accident or injury to his/her manager so that the necessary paperwork may be completed.

Standards Of Conduct

At The Nest Eatery, our standards of conduct are very high. You were hired not only because we believe you have the required skills, but also because we expect you to have the same dedication and exhibit proper behavior.

The rules and guidelines that govern The Nest Eatery's relationship with you and all our employees, outlined in this handbook, are not arbitrary regulations designed to foster strict discipline. On the contrary, they are in place for good reasons. For an organization to run smoothly, everyone must work well together. That kind of cooperation provides a good working environment and pleasant conditions while doing your job. Following the rules affords the opportunity to ensure safe surroundings for you, your fellow employees, and our guests.

Engaging in any one of the following acts may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination:

- Being under the influence of or using, possessing, consuming, transferring, selling or attempting to sell any form of intoxicant or illegal substance at any time while on Osprey Golf Course premises, property, or during company business.
- Harassment, including but not limited to, verbal and physical conduct or unwelcome advances with regard to or on the basis of sex, race, color, national origin or ancestry, age, religion, sexual orientation, veterans' status, creed, and marital status, or for any other reason.

- Threats or acts of violence toward guests, fellow employees or those who do business on The Nest Eatery's premises or Osprey Golf Course.
- Use of profanity or abusive language.
- Violation of the company's anti-discrimination, zero tolerance harassment policy.
- Falsifying any company record or giving false information on any company record, including but not limited to, any employment documents, giving false testimony in accident reports or deliberately altering your timecard or the time of another employee.
- Leaving the premises during working hours prior to the end of your shift without proper authorization.
- Unauthorized disclosure of confidential company information or unauthorized use or abuse of company records.
- Conviction or commission of a serious crime, felony, or other crime while employed by the company.
- Horseplay, wasting time, dangerous or annoying practical joking, or other inappropriate conduct or behavior.
- Working for pay during an approved leave of absence.
- Discourteousness - courtesy is the responsibility of every team member. Everyone is expected to be courteous, polite and friendly to our guests, vendors and suppliers, course volunteers and staff, as well as to their fellow team members. No one should be disrespectful or use profanity or any other language, which injures the image or reputation of the company.
- Willful destruction of company or individual property.
- Insubordination.

- Substandard workmanship.
- Unauthorized use, removal, or theft of company property, including giving large portions or free items to a guest or employee.
- Any act, which might endanger the safety or life of others including failure to report a mistake, an accident or damage by an employee, guest, or supervisor; or failure to follow health, fire, and safety practices while on duty.
- Selling alcohol to a minor or a person already intoxicated.

Progressive Discipline

Where appropriate, management may use the progressive discipline and coaching for employee development and discipline. Management is not obligated to use this procedure. Management may, based on the severity and the specific facts of the incident, choose to accelerate the disciplinary process, skip steps or impose immediate termination of employment. In addition, management may elect to utilize a "suspension pending investigation" if additional time is needed to investigate a violation of policy.

Resignation & Termination

Your employment with us is “at will”, meaning that our employment relationship may be terminated by you or us at any time, with or without cause. If you decide to end your employment with the company, we ask that you notify your management in writing at last two weeks in advance of your intended termination. Upon your resignation, you are responsible for returning all company property in your possession or for which you are responsible, including but limited to, uniforms, keys, etc.

Voluntary Separation

If you are absent for one or more working days without providing notice, we will assume this to be a voluntary separation. To avoid this, remember to:

- Always give advance notice if you anticipate being absent.
- Contact management if you're out due to illness or injury.
- Get approval from a manager before taking time off or leaving work early.

Remember, if you leave The Nest Eatery voluntarily, you may want to return. If you do the right thing, we will be happy to welcome you back!

ESSENTIAL FUNCTIONS OF THE BEVERAGE CART ATTENDANT

We can't say it enough; you are the front line of our golf operation, the eyes and ears of the course. By being customer-focused, you can and will make a difference in every customer's day. So thank you in advance for being such a special part of our Team!

We have broken down your job into seven (7) essential functions or sections. We will take them sequentially and as you will see they flow into one another.

1. Proper Stocking and Presentation of the Beverage Cart:
   The beverage cart is the "on course" refreshment center. It needs to look professional, and it needs to have a selection of popular beverages and snacks requested most often by our golfers. Additionally, they need to be displayed in an appealing and appetizing way.

2. Knowing Proper Golf Etiquette and How to Approach a Group:
   Your safety is of the utmost concern. Knowing how to approach golfers and knowing proper etiquette will keep you safe and the golfers happy too.

3. Providing Excellent Customer Service:
   You hear about customer service every day and customer service is what sets us apart from our competition. There are many ways one can provide service. We will show you how to provide the best!

4. Proper Transaction Handling:
   Getting the sale is great but what to do with it afterwards is just important.

5. Close Out Procedures:
   You are back at the clubhouse at the end of your shift. What do you do with all of the stock and money.

6. Beverage Cart Upkeep and Maintenance:
   Part of your responsibility is maintenance of the vehicle. You need to be sure that it is operating properly. If you notice anything that seems to be broken or not working as it should, then it needs to be reported. There are a couple of practices and policies that will keep the cart in good working order.

7. Dealing With Service and Maintenance Issues and Customer Complaints:
   We wanted you to be prepared for anything that might come your way including service problems, maintenance issues that may be brought to your attention etc.

Proper Stocking and Presentation of Beverage Cart

You are the person that is responsible for ensuring the cart is clean, that it is professional looking, and that it is properly stocked.

One of the first things that you will want to do when you clock in for your shift is to check your vehicle.

1. Do a visual check of the tires to be sure that they are properly inflated.
2. Check the battery level to make sure that it is fully charged. If gas powered, check the fuel level. It should be full just like the battery should be fully charged.
3. Check the windshield for any cracks or debris. Wipe down to ensure a clean view removing all dirt, bugs and other accumulated remains.
4. Make sure it is clean and wiped down. A clean cart gives a good first impression.

Stocking the Cart

You will need to mark down and keep track of every item during your shift as its protection and welfare is part of your job responsibility.

Doing an inventory of items before you start is a necessary step as you will again re-inventory the cart at the end of the day. The items sold along with the remaining items at the end of the day will add up to what your starting inventory is.

This starting inventory also includes any snacks, food items or sundries that you will be taking with you that is for sale.

In the back of this manual, you will find an inventory sheet that shows your starting inventory, the items sold and your ending inventory. Use this sheet to fill out each item under its proper category.

Organize the cart so that it will easy and efficient to use. Keep similar products in the same areas. For instance, you will want to put all of the soft drinks in one compartment, beer and water in another, etc. Try not to mix them and keep them separated if at all possible. Put your snacks together in one area, etc.

Don't forget about napkins, straws, cups, stir sticks, and condiments for sandwiches (individual packages of mustard, mayonnaise, salt and pepper). You may want to devise a little "caddy" to put these items in if you don't have a drawer or shelf for them.

If you have a menu board, this is the time to be sure that it is up to date with the products you have on board and that the prices are correct.

Knowing Proper Golf Etiquette and How to Approach a Group

Your safety and the safety of all our guests are of the utmost importance. Knowing how to approach golfers and knowing proper etiquette will keep everyone safe and happy.

Since our customers are also our guests, as you drive around every time you see anyone on the course, wave hello. This simple gesture will make our players feel welcome and will also let them know you are here to help them.

If you aren't a golfer, one thing that you need to know is that any type of movement or sound can be very distracting during play. Always stop the cart when someone is making a swing or putting as the noise and the visual movement may disturb the player.

It is very important to learn the flow of the golf course. Know your way around to learn the most efficient route so that you can reach the most people in the smallest amount of time.

You will ride the course backwards, to service the folks who have been out there the longest. You will go against play to reach the people who started first. Since you are driving the course backwards, you will be driving "into" the groups. Be aware of the flight of the golf ball at all times!!

Approaching a Player or Group

PRACTICE SAFETY FIRST.
Visually locate all golfers. Always approach them on the tee box or fairways, never the greens. Otherwise, you will slow pace of play.

Each golf cart holds two people so you can quickly assess how many players approximately by how many carts you see. You need to visually locate each golfer when you arrive upon a group. Determine who is next to play — that would be the player furthest from the hole if they aren't on the tee box.

If you hear the word "fore" yelled, be sure to turn away, tuck your body and cover your head and face as the errant ball is heading in your direction. Your windshield isn't shatterproof so don't depend on it though it will deflect a ball.

Remember that you are intruding upon play even if you are providing them with a service. A good beverage cart driver needs to be quiet and quick since this refreshment break is a disruption to play. It takes time to serve the group properly and it obviously adds to the time of the round effecting everyone on the course.

First Time Approaching a Player or Group

The first time you come up to a group or an individual player is a great time to help them understand how much you care. Do this by saying, "Welcome to Osprey Golf Course. My name is _____." Your welcome and introduction sets the stage for a welcoming experience.

They obviously will know what you are doing so pause for a moment and see if they would like to introduce themselves. If they do, try to remember at least one or two names.

> Note: If the player(s) tells you their name(s) write them down on the ticket or some other place along with a shirt description so you can recall their names when you approach them again later in the round. Since everyone likes to hear their name, whenever possible, try to call the player(s) by name as it will make them feel special.

After you pause, say "The drinks are cold and ready to go. Would you prefer a water, power drink, soda or beer?"

At this point, they will tell you what they desire. Quickly and quietly (as someone may be hitting) fulfill the order and complete the transaction. Try not to spend too much time in conversation as more than likely there is another group of players right behind this group.

While you are filling their order, ask how their round is going and be sure that you are smiling the whole time.

Thank them sincerely and end with "Thank you. Please feel free to wave me down if you need anything. Play well today and thank you for playing Osprey Golf Course."

When you leave, make sure that all has been secured and that no one is hitting. Wait to leave until the last person has hit or until you are sure that you don't or won't cause a distraction.

Time(s) to Approach a Player or Group

Imagine their delight if you have remembered their names and what they are drinking. You will be a big hit if you do and increase your tip accordingly.

By now you will have a feel for the group, for instance if they are drinkers or smokers. If they didn't purchase anything last visit, then they are more likely to this trip around.

Approach and pleasantly say, "You look like you all need some refreshments. There is a drink here with your name on it. What may I get you?"

Wait for a moment to see if they have any comments or requests.

Fulfill the request and complete the transaction again as quickly and as quietly as possible.

Wish them an enjoyable round and thank them again for playing your course. "Thank you. Please feel free to wave me down if you need anything. Play well today and thank you for playing Osprey Golf Course.

Providing Excellent Customer Service

Customer service is what sets us apart from our competition. As a beverage cart attendant, it will start with a first impression when you drive up. That means it starts with the way you look. That means showing up to work in a clean, pressed, uniform. It means being properly groomed with clean hair and a hairstyle (and color) that is complimentary to the person along with appropriately applied makeup (need I say for ladies). It means having clean shoes with neat and clean shoelaces (more than likely golf shoes or athletic shoes) tied.

Exude enthusiasm as you deliver service to our guests. Its power is contagious and will almost always cause your audience to respond favorably.

Proper Transaction Handling

Part of a great service is getting the transaction right the first time. That means presenting a bill for the correct amount to the guest, processing it and then ensuring that it gets to its destination (the Point-of-Sale system and/or register).

You will have a bank that you are responsible for. You will be responsible for overages and shortages in your bank. Knowing the price of every item speeds up transactions.

Ask if it will be all on one ticket or are these separate purchases. Generally, to speed things up, one person in the group will take care of the tab.

Whether it is a charge or a cash purchase, EVERY item must be entered.

For a charge, be sure that they have signed the screen and then give them a copy of the receipt. For a cash transaction, give them a copy of the receipt.

The last thing you should do is thank them, wish them well and thank them for playing the course. "Thank you. Please feel free to wave me down if you need anything. Play well today and thank you for playing.

If it is a cash transaction, you will be given cash after you have presented the ticket to the player. You will then need to make appropriate change. Never ask if they need change back. Let them offer if that is the case. Hand them back their change and thank them, wish them well, and thank them for playing the course.

After the transaction is completed:

- If cash, make sure to put the money away in a secure, dry place before you start to drive off.
- Make sure that all has been secured and that no one is hitting as movement of the cart and the noise will distract a player hitting.

It is important that you be accurate as you are responsible for the items on the cart. They are not yours to give away or to lose as they have been entrusted to you and have a cash value.

Beverage Cart Upkeep and Maintenance

After the beverage cart is unloaded, getting rid of all of the ice in the compartments and opening the drains for the last bit of water to drain out. The compartments should be wiped down for any moisture so mold doesn't start to form in a humid climate. Use a rag with a mild disinfectant which will retard mold and mildew growth.

Take the cart to the storage and make sure it is secure. Again, give a once over to make sure nothing was missed.

Maintain Proper Air Pressure in the Tires

Just like on regular cars and trucks, an under- or over-inflated tire can wear unevenly, as well as hinder the performance of your golf carts. The air pressure should be checked monthly and filled to the manufacturer’s recommended specification, usually between 18-22 PSI.

Inspect the Brakes and Rear Differential

Bad brakes can not only be expensive but endanger a property’s staff and guests. About every six months, depending on use, the brakes should be cleaned and pads, drums, cables, and pedal adjusted. If the brake pedal is low and/or the brakes are squealing, get the golf cart checked out by a qualified technician. The oil level on the rear differential, which drives the golf cart, should be checked every 12 months. Puddles of oil under the golf cart could mean that the differential is leaking and should be repaired.

Keep Your Golf Carts Clean
A clean, shiny golf cart not only makes a good impression with prospective residents but also helps ensure the life of the vehicle. Wash the exterior and underneath, including behind each tire and wheel were muck and mud can collect. A water hose can be used but ensure that essential electrical components stay dry to avoid a short.

Dealing with Service and Customer Complaints

We want you prepared for anything that might come your way. The following advice will help the situation.

Four Step Method (H.E.A.T.) for dealing with customer Complaints/issues if and when they arise
There will be occasions though when everything isn't perfect for our players or there is someone who isn't having the greatest day. Or there may be a real issue such as having problems with the group ahead. Since you will be the first one on-site and you represent the club, you will have to take some action.

Dealing with Service Issues
Service issues can be anything from a customer waiting too long for a drink to a dog darting in and out of the fairway. As a Team member, you will need to resolve any type of service issue that one of our guests may have. You need to try to resolve it immediately, no matter how trivial the issue may seem. Here's how:

Let's use the example of a player telling you that he has been waiting forever for a drink and complains that the beverage cart hasn't been around all day. When he finishes telling you about the issue tell him, "I know it is hot out here. I'm sorry that you have had to wait so long. I am here now so let's get you something quickly. What would you like?"

Most times that approach will work because you listened, empathized, you sincerely apologized and now are taking corrective measures.

Here are a few guidelines for helping you deal with customer complaints/issues: You want to take the HEAT:

1. HEAR what they say
2. EMPATHIZE with them
3. APOLOGIZE and then
4. TAKE action.

Most people just want to be heard so they sound off or vent a little. Listen to what they have to say, agree with them, apologize for what you can, then DO what you can for the situation.
If the person starts to escalate the conversation, tell them that you would be happy to report the issue to your supervisor so corrective action can be taken.

Now, show them how much you care by immediately reporting the issue to the Manager in the presence of the customer.

Dealing with a Player who has had Too Much to Drink
It is your job to monitor alcohol consumption and know when you need to stop serving a guest or group. Most know when to stop so this won't be an issue often and when someone in the group has consumed a little too much alcohol, generally someone in the group will come to the aid.

If you believe that a group has been drinking too much, then avoid the group and let your supervisor know immediately. They may complain about the service so you will want to let the Course Manager know why you chose not to stop.

Other issues
Needing to take a restroom break on course
Go back to the clubhouse and park the cart in a secure location. Take your bank and POS terminal with you and lock as many compartments as possible.
